EMPLOYEES REMEMBERED

Rare Specimens From His Art
Collection Go to Metropolitan Museum.

Edmund C. Converse, financier, who died April 4 at Pasadena, Cal., leaving an estate estimated at $20,000,000, bequeathed about $2,000,000 to charities and for educational purposes, according to his will, which was filed yesterday at Greenwich, Conn. Trust funds of $50,000 each for ten colleges were set aside for the establishment of E. C. Converse scholarships. Some of the rare specimens from the banker's art collection were given to the Metropolitan Museum.

The will makes provision for all of Mr. Converse's employees. He was first president of the Bankers Trust Company, resigning that post in 1912. Before that he was president of the Liberty National Bank. He made bequests to employees' organizations in both banks. The balance of the estate is left in trust for the widow, Mrs. Edith Dunham Converse; the children, Baroness Antoinette von Romberg, Mrs. Benjamin Strong, Jr., of Greenwich, and Edmund C. Converse, Jr., of California; and to grandchildren.

Among the public bequests were the following: Metropolitan Museum of Art, $50,000; the portrait of Mlle. Cottignier and collection of Chinese, Persian, Japanese and Italian ceramics, mortuary glass, jades and other hard stones, $50,000; Harvard University, Gainsborough's portrait of Count Rumford, $50,000; Rumford Historical Society, Woburn, Mass., $25,000.

Christ's Church of Greenwich, Conn., $100,000 as an endowment fund. Congregational Church, East Stamford, Conn., $10,000. Boy Scouts of America, $35,000, of which $10,000 is to be applied for the benefit of Greenwich Local Council of Boy Scouts.

Greenwich Country Club, $10,000 for the purchase of prizes for the annual Fourth of July sports.

Bankers Club of New York, composed of employees of the Bankers Trust Company, $25,000.

Bankers Trust Company pension fund for employees, $100,000.

Alaquippa Lodge, P. and A. M., of McKeesport, Pa., $10,000.

Young Men's Christian Association, Greenwich, Conn., $100,000 for endowment fund.

New York Dispensary, $25,000.

New York Zoological Society of the City of New York, $50,000.

St. Thomas's Episcopal Church of New York city, for its charitable purposes, $50,000.

Amherst College, $200,000 for the upkeep and development of the Converse Memorial Library.

Greenwich General Hospital, $100,000.

Liberty Club, composed of employees of the Liberty National Bank, $25,000.

Tancred Commandery, K. T. F. and A. M. Society of Pittsburgh, Pa., the sum of $10,000.

Charitable Society of Englewood, $50,000.

United Hospital Fund of New York, $500,000.

To each of the following colleges $50,000 to establish the E. C. Converse scholarship funds: Amherst, Bowdoin, Dartmouth, Stanford, Oberlin, Smith, Princeton, Tulane, Normal and Industrial Institute, Wells and Williams.

New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, $100,000.

Metropolitan Hospital action to the City of New York, for its social service department, $25,000.

Alfred Jaretski of New York city and Bankers Trust Company are appointed executors and trustees.

$26,000 FOR HANAN WIDOW.

Surrogate Allows Payment of Legacy From Estate.

Despite the protests of Herbert W. Hanan, nephew of the late Alfred P. Hanan, alio manufacturer, and his executor, Surrogate Foley yesterday awarded $26,000 to Mrs. Ethel Hanan Taylor, widow of Mr. Hanan, out of the $100,000 she claims is due her from his estate as a legacy.

The executor's objection was based on the fact that Mrs. Taylor, who remarried after Mr. Hanan's death, had begun a Supreme Court action to establish her rights to share in the Hanan & Son shoe concern, and that if she succeeded in establishing her claim a daughter of the founder of the concern would also sue for her rights in the firm. Their total claims, he asserted, would wipe out the Alfred P. Hanan estate.

Surrogate Foley could not see the probability of a similar action by Mrs. Elizabeth E. Durano, the daughter.

OGDEN WILL FILED.

Charles W. Ogden of 14 East Seventy-ninth street and his sister, Miss Mary P. Ogden of 12 East Seventy-ninth street are the residuary legatees of an estate of "more than $10,000 in personal property" under the will of their mother, Mrs. Louisa H. Ogden of 12 East Seventy-ninth street, died yesterday for probate. The Episcopal Board of Foreign Missions, the Church of the Holy Communion, the Church of the Holy Communion and the Rev. Henry Nottel are other legatees.

LANGLEY ESTATE MUST

PAY U. S. $68,437 MORE

He Transferred $932,241 in Contemplation of Death.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., April 12.—The estate of William H. Langley, who at his death two years ago lived at 17 East Ninety-fifth street, Manhattan, will have to pay an additional tax to the Government of $68,437 because property valued at $932,241 was transferred by him in contemplation of death, according to a ruling made and filed to-day with the Surrogate of Suffolk county, Long Island, by the Federal Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

The executors of the will have filed objections to this decision and have announced they will not pay the further assessment without a legal battle.

The executors are William C. Langley, Jr. and the decedent's William McKinley, Jr. and William H. Siebert.

SET NEXT STILLMAN HEARING FOR MAY 4

Banker's Lawyers Insist He Will Not Drop Action.

Cornelius J. Stillman, president of the National City Bank, said yesterday the next hearing in the banker's divorce suit will be held May 4, probably in this city. The lawyer again declared untrue reports that Mr. Stillman contemplated dropping the action.

The hearing will be opened under the agreement entered into by the opposing lawyers. It is understood the seven letters that figure in the suit will be offered, in which event a legal battle is considered certain to follow, with the possibility of an appeal should Referee Daniel J. Gleason admit them as evidence.

Mr. Stillman will be represented by Mr. Sullivan and Outbridge Horsey of the firm of Nicol, Anable, Fuller & Sullivan. Mrs. Anne Urquhart Potter Stillman will be defended by Louis Levy of Stanchfield & Levy and John F. Brennan of Yonkers.

Mr. Stillman presided yesterday at the regular Tuesday meeting of the board of directors of the National City Bank. Reporters were informed his private affairs were not discussed.

E. J. STEICHEN, ARTIST, IS BLOCKED BY WIFE

Loses Point in Replevin Suit for Objects of Art.

Mrs. Clara Smith Steichen of 11 Henderson place, who lost a few months ago an action for $200,000 for alienation of the affections of Edward J. Steichen, noted artist, against Miss Marion Beckett, also an artist, was victorious yesterday in obtaining from Supreme Court Justice Edward J. Gavegan an order vacating an examination order secured by her husband in a replevin suit. Her victory, however, rested on the technical flaw that her husband's order to examine his wife before trial was obtained in his behalf while he was abroad and that a certification was not procured from him when he came here to testify in the action she brought. The property which Mr. Steichen is seeking to recover, according to his papers, includes three statues by Rodin, several paintings by himself, bric-a-brac and Chinese and Japanese antiques. Mrs. Steichen, in her papers, alleges he gave the articles to her, but seeks them back now so that they may be enjoyed by himself and Miss Beckett, who is a daughter of the late Surrogate Beckett, "apart from deponent and children."

INCOME HEARING ORDERED.

Edwin H. Bell, Sued for Separation, Accused of "Sprees."

Supreme Court Justice Newburger ordered yesterday an examination of Edwin H. Bell of 640 Riverside Drive to determine his income pending settlement of a suit for separation started by Mrs. Anna Bell of 1227 Madison avenue. She says he is a principal stockholder in the Bell Box Company, with an income of $25,000, but has allowed her only $15 a week, she alleges, since they stopped living together in 1917.

A few months after their marriage on October 23, 1918, according to her papers, Mr. Bell started drinking and from that time until they separated "indulged in protracted spree." She alleges he also was a drug addict.

300 WOULD JOIN PRESS CLUB.

Nearly 300 newspapermen of this city, who are not members of the New York Press Club, have signed a memorial expressing their sympathy with the efforts of certain members of the club to "clean house."

The signers announce their intention "of applying for membership as soon as the club is restored to the original purposes outlined in its constitution."

Greenwich General Hospital, $100,000.

Liberty Club, composed of employees of the Liberty National Bank, $25,000.

Tancred Commandery, K. T. F. and A. M. Society of Pittsburgh, Pa., the sum of $10,000.

Charitable Society of Englewood, $50,000.

CUSTOMS MAN WHO TOOK 'TIPS' IS FREED

Isidore Cohen Admitted Getting $350 From Incoming Ocean Travellers.

Isidore Cohen, former customs inspector, of 524 Crescent street, Far Rockaway, was found not guilty yesterday afternoon in the Federal District Court of soliciting and receiving money in connection with his official duties. The jury returned the verdict to Judge Augustus N. Hand after one hour's deliberation. The defendant was tried on an indictment which charged him with having collected $350 from passengers landing from transatlantic liners last September, October and November.

On the stand yesterday Cohen admitted he had received this money and considerable more but insisted it was in the nature of voluntary "tips" from passengers. He testified he had received $200 from Samuel S. Keyser when Mr. Keyser arrived on the Aquitania. He said this was the largest gratuity he had ever received and testified he had divided it with Frank J. Mullen, customs appraiser, who inspected Mr. Keyser's baggage with him. Mullen, who was summoned to the stand in rebuttal, declared he never received any money from the defendant.

It was reported in Federal Court circles yesterday after the verdict had been returned that the charges of graft that were about to be placed against several other customs inspectors will be dropped. The Cohen case was used as a test case by the Government, it was said.

SEN. CAMERON ANSWERS ALIENATION ACTION

Senator Ralph Henry Cameron, Republican, of Arizona, filed yesterday through Thomas M. Simonton, his counsel, his answer to the action by Edward T. McFarlin for alienation of his wife's affections begun in the Supreme Court. The answer denies, on information and belief, "that Margaret Worcester McFarlin is the wife of the plaintiff."

All allegations of intimacy are likewise denied.

The Senator, in his answer, says he lives in the State of Arizona, and that under the laws of his State an action for alienation must be brought within four years of the alleged cause of action. The present proceeding against him, he sets forth, was not brought within that time.
